Notes of the Fair.

There has been quite a hustle all week, at the Fair Grounds, getting the numerous entries placed.

The Poultry Department has some excellent exhibits, with about 1000 entries. Two of last year's exhibitors, Mr. Warrington, Cornwall, Ont., and Mr. Cross, of Killarney, Man., are back again this year, each with a car of poultry exhibits. Mr. Wilkinson, of Edmonton, also has a car of chickens, etc., on exhibition. The local chicken raisers are also well represented.

Among the exhibitors of cattle are: Thornton of To-field, Herefords; E. E. Swift, Harry Hills, sheep and pigs; Steve Swift, Viking, pigs; Moore, of South Edmonton, pigs; Bevington, Winterburn, Halsteins; and Gilbert of Sunnybrook Farm, with Holsteins. Taken altogether, there is a fine exhibit of cattle.

Stock Judging Classes.

A very successful stock judging class for juniors was held on Thursday, evening last, by Mr. M. B. McCull, on the local Demonstration Farm. A large class was in attendance, including quite a few from Spruce Grove. Much benefit accrues to the younger farmers from these classes, and these should be given every encouragement.

No New School Building

The Stony Plain Consolidated School Board do not intend building an addition to the present building this summer, and have reverted to the old system of having a class in the Town Hall. The matter of continuing Consolidation is still under consideration, and no definite action will be taken until the close of the year.

It is rumored that the classes at the local school will be resumed on the 22nd.

Sporting Notes.

A very successful shoot was held on Saturday afternoon last, by the Rifle Club, at the Butte on the McKinlay Ranch.

The crowd which was drawn to the Fair Grounds on Saturday afternoon last with the expectation of seeing a good ball game were disappointed at the non-appearance of the local players at the specified time. The players from Edmonton were there, alright, alright! but where, oh! where were—or was—the local team?

The local ball players made the trip to Wabamun on Friday last, and beat the team from Entwhistle by 10 to 3. Stony then played Wabamun the winners of the Wabamun—Duffield game and lost to a score of 6 to 7. Stony's good pitcher Mr. Hildebrandt was unable to go on the trip.

The ball game, Saturday night Comet vs Stony Plain, resulted in a win for the latter, 12 to 8. Play was suspended in the third, while all hands took part in a wrench chase.

Mike's Pets have captured the football trophy presented by Ross Alger Co. for the winner in the local league. The game last week was the deciding one. The standing at the close was: Stony Plain 8, Rosenthal 6, Spruce Grove 4.

The local ball players were out Monday night, and had a good practice for the big game.

Disarmament

The invitation extended by President Harding to Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan to join with the United States in a conference to discuss and consider ways and means of abolishing world disarmament was hailed with joy by people of all nations. The whole world is weary of war—even Germany has had all the war she wants for a long, long time. Although the formal invitation to this conference on disarmament came from the United States, there is hardly any question but that British influence played a large part in it. It is even open to question whether the initiative in the matter did not come from Britain, where, however, it was realized that the extending of such an invitation by the United States would not be viewed with the same suspicion by other European powers as would be the case if Great Britain made it.

Such a conference as has been proposed can hardly fail to be productive of much good, even though it may fall short of actually achieving world disarmament. The millennium has not yet come, and it is too much to hope that all nations are ready to abandon all warlike forms of national defence. During the Great War it was a frequently used expression: "This is a war to end war." But conditions still prevailing in Europe and Asia seem to preclude the immediate possibility of disbanding all armies.

France, the victim of German invasion twice within the memory of many men still living, is far from being convinced that the day for maintaining an army of defence is passed. Russia is commonly credited with now possessing the largest army in the world, and under the present Bolshevik regime cannot be depended upon for one moment. Should all other nations disarm, dictators of the League and Trotsky type might seize the opportunity to ride roughshod over Europe. Poland, rejoicing in its new-found freedom, with Bolshevik Russia on the one hand, and a resentful Germany on the other hand, is hardly likely to be willing to rely solely on Russian and German promises of good behavior. And is the world willing to trust Turkey?

But if complete disarmament is not yet possible, it ought at least to be possible to bring about a tremendous reduction in armaments and a consequent lessening of the probabilities of war, and its horrors should it unfortunately not be entirely avoided. With the ignoble surrender of the German navy, and its subsequent destruction, the greatest menace to the liberties of the world was removed. If the remaining naval powers—Great Britain, United States, Japan, France and Italy—can agree to put an end to the creation of larger and more powerful navies, smash up their submarines and put a ban on their further construction, a great advance step will have been taken, and an enormous reduction effected in the burden of taxation imposed on the people of these countries.

Again, if an agreement could be reached to eliminate the aerial services from use in war a further advance step would be taken, the horror of future wars materially reduced, and untold millions of money saved. Otherwise, we are going to witness the expenditure of enormous sums in the perfecting of aerial machines of destruction, with each nation trying to outdo and out-fox the others. If in this age of warlike inventions, the nations could be brought into agreement to reduce armaments to the old land soldiers of past ages, eliminate all recent inventions such as the submarine and airship from war use, and place the ban upon the use of all future inventions for warlike purposes, millions of money would be saved, the terrible magnitude of the last war prevented or repelled, and much of the fascination of war in its newer phases removed.

Greatly as we would like to see it, there is grave doubt of it being presently possible to bring about complete disarmament, and it is open to question, therefore, whether more would not be gained at the forthcoming conference on the subject if the matter of disarmament were not dragged in, but the efforts at disarmament confined to naval, aerial, and kindred aspects of modern warfare.

There is a certain fighting instinct in the whole human race that cannot be entirely eradicated, but it should be possible for the nations to reach agreements which would stop the use of the inventive genius of man for the wholesale destruction of his fellowmen, and which would result in the prohibition of all new mechanical contrivances which, if persisted in, would make the next war a war of annihilation, involving not only soldiers and sailors on active service, but the entire civilian populations of all countries engaged in the struggle.

France Receives Radio Photograph

Transmitted Across Ocean By Powerful U.S. Wireless Station.

Transmissible of photographs and written documents in facsimile across the ocean by wireless has been accomplished. Two successful tests of this epoch-making invention have been made at the powerful naval radio station at Annapolis, a photograph and written message having been sent to Malmsten, the Swedish radio station.

The first test of the invention was the sending of a photograph of the recent Dempsey-Carpentier fight from the Annapolis station to France for reproduction in Le Matin, a Paris newspaper.

While the reproduction was said to have been fairly good, it was not as perfect as the engineers wished it to be. So another test was made.

This test was the sending of a facsimile written message from C. V. Van Andaman, managing director of the New York Times, to Le Matin, the Paris newspaper. Word came back that the message was reproduced almost perfectly.

Sure Protection For You While You Travel

You may find the water bad, some poorly cooked food may excite trouble, a draught from a car window may give you an earache—a cold room or damp sheets may cause rheumatic twinges. Remember this—any pain that is felt is a warning of trouble. It yields rapidly to Nervine. When your stomach is sour and upset, just try the magical effect of twenty drops of Nervine in sweetened water. If cramps waken you in the dead of night, Nervine will fix those awful cramps in a hurry. Keep a 35 cent bottle of Nervine in hand—always.

On Schedule.

Mistress.—"Mary, how is it that the eggs for breakfast are sometimes boiled soft and sometimes quite hard?"

Mary.—"Well, m'm, I'm sure I don't know. I puts them in regular as the clock strikes eight, and I takes them out without fail when I hears the down train go by."

For Both House and Stable.—There is a good deal of similarity, physically speaking, between human beings and the lower animals. Both are subject to many ailments arising from inflammation and to all manner of cuts and bruises. Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil is an entirely reliable remedy for such ailments and mishaps in both human beings and the lower orders of animals.

True Word.

"There are few things more tantalizing to a man," declares the Havensville Review, "than to go home with something on his mind he wants to scold about, and find company there and be obliged to act agreeable."

Corns are caused by the pressure of tight boots, but no one need be troubled with them long when so simple a remedy as Dr. Williams' Corn Remedy is available.

Strawberries In Cold Storage.

Fruit growers in the lower Fraser Valley, British Columbia, have put over 3,000 barrels of strawberries in cold storage to be held until the canners are ready to take them. The berries are packed in sugar and will keep in condition for preserving indefinitely.

The indications of worms are restlessness, grinding of the teeth, picking of the nose, nervousness, and often convulsions. Under these conditions one of the best remedies that can be got is Miller's Worm Powders. They will attack the worms as soon as administered and they pass away in the evacuations. The little sufferer will be immediately eased and a return of the attack will not be likely.

For Western Farmers.

This year the entire crop will put in the pockets of the Western Canada farmers the sum of about $700,000,000. To produce this there is a tillage of some 30,625,000 acres, while 400,000,000 acres of arable land await the plough in the prairie provinces.

His Religious Belief.

The census-taker had asked many questions and Mike was tired of answering them. "And what is your religious belief?" the suave census man continued. "God forgive me, but I'm an atheist!" said Mike.

Convinced Tanlac Is Wonderful Medicine, Declares Miss Reed

"I am convinced that Tanlac is a wonderful medicine because it has been more than a year now since I took it, but it toned up my entire system so well that I am still in the best of health," said Miss Maie Reed, popular saleslady, residing at 406 Kennedy Street, Winnipeg, Manitoba.

"I dislike to have my name in the paper, but Tanlac has helped me so much that I actually feel it my duty to express my gratitude, so want everybody to know about my case. Nearly a year and a half ago, while I was living in Regina, my health broke down completely. I had rheumatic fever and for eight months was flat on my back in bed, unable to move an inch. I finally got up out of bed, but was so weak I seemed to have no energy at all. My appetite was gone and instead of getting better I just worried along, getting worse, if anything. I could get no sound sleep and just felt miserable all the time. "A friend of mine finally suggested that I try Tanlac, so I started taking it and by the time I had finished my second bottle my appetite was simply wonderful. I took four bottles in all, and all my strength and energy had come back to me and I was feeling like a different person. My health has been fine ever since and I haven't missed a day from my work. I can't say too much for Tanlac of the polka."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

How Labrador Was Named

Portuguese Explorers Thought Natives Would Make Good Laborers

It is believed that Labrador was so named by the Portuguese explorers, who thought the natives would make good laborers, or because of the labor required to make a living there. The name is cognate with the old Spanish name of labor. The Labrador coast was discovered in the tenth century by Leif, the Norseman, but no explorations were made. It was again discovered in 1497 by John Cabot. Explorations and settlements were made and the peninsula was named.

LISTLESS, PEEVISH GIRLS

When a girl in her teens becomes listless and dull, when nothing seems to interest her and dainties do not tempt her appetite, you may be certain that she needs more good blood than her system is provided with. Before long her pallid cheeks, frequent headaches and breathlessness and heart palpitation will convince her that she is anemic. Many mothers, as the result of their own girlhood experience, can promptly detect the early signs of anemia, and the wise mother does not wait for the doctor to prescribe further, but at once gives her daughter a course with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which renew the blood supply and banish anemia before it has obtained a hold upon the system.

Out of their experience thousands of mothers know that anemia is the sure road to worse ill. They know the difference that good red blood makes in the development of womanly health. Every headache, every gap for breath that follows the slightest exertion, the anemic girl every pain she suffers in her back and limbs are reproaches if they have not taken the best step to give her weak girl new blood, and the only sure way to do so is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. New, rich red blood is infused into the system by every dose of these pills. From this new rich blood springs good health, an increased appetite, new energy, high spirits and development. Give your daughter Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and take them yourself and note how promptly their influence is felt in better health.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Prince To Sell Winners.

The Prince of Wales was a notable winner with his exhibits of Shorthorn cattle and Shropshire sheep, at Bath and West and Southern Counties Agricultural Show, England, being the winner of most of the prizes. He declared his intention of shipping some of these farm aristocrats to his ranch near High River, Alta., where there is already a fine blooded aggregation.

Strangled with Asthma is the only expression that seems to convey what is suffered from an attack of this trouble. The relief from Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is beyond measure. When all was suffering there comes comfort and rest. Breathing becomes normal and the bronchial tubes completely cleared. This unequalled remedy is worth many times its price to all who use it.

The Polka Dot

Editor Finds Out Where Pattern Got Its Name.

Although Lord Northcliffe, of the London Times, with a reputation for more knowledge than the average encyclopedia, was stumped of the meaning of "polka-dot," as applied to the cravat he was wearing, he left Toronto for the west, the editor of the Drygoods Economist has unearthed the solution to the problem.

Three quarters of a century ago a Bohemian peasant dance called the polka, swept the old world and the new, creating as much of a sensation as the one-step and the fox-trot of today. Everybody talked of the polka.

Just then some enterprising manufacturer got out a new style of dark silk fabric with contrasting spots or dots upon it. The rest was simple. The new fabrics, worn by the fashionable dancing the polka, became "polka dots," just as later we had merry widow hats and Alice blue costumes, and so on. There were polka shoes, polka gloves and all sorts of polka things.

The Chautauqua.

In 1878 there was held on the shores of Lake Chautauqua, in New York State, the first session of an annual gathering, which took its name from that body of water. Bishop John H. Vincent and Rev. Lewis were the originators, and its object was a short, post-graduate course on educational subjects, for those who had not had the opportunity of attending college.

The Chautauqua example was contagious. In other localities similar gatherings came to be held.

In 1906 it occurred to some one with a talent for organization, that the programs which were meeting with such success at Lake Chautauqua and elsewhere could be staged in cities and towns throughout the country generally, by arranging circuits and sending speakers, singers and entertainers from place to place.

That in brief is the genesis and history of the movement, that has culminated in a Chautauqua course, being now a yearly event in most large cities and towns of United States and Canada.

The Dominion Chautauque comes to Stony Plain, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, August 18-19 and 20th. The program indicates that while the original idea of an educational effort has not been lost sight of, something is provided for all who like the best in music and entertainment.

Residents Oppose a Raise.

The resident owners of lots at Edmonton Beach held an indignation meeting last week with reference to the increased assessment on their land. It appears that, under the new system of assessing adopted by the Municipal District, the assessment on the holdings at the Beach has been increased over 100 per cent. An effort will be made to have the place incorporated as a village, as has been done at other similar places, thus assuring that the taxes imposed will be spent in or near that place.

Potato Growers' Meeting.

There was a meeting of the potato growers of the district, held in the Town Hall on Saturday, Aug. 13, at which Mr. A. Klapper presided.

J. H. Hare, of the Dept. of Agriculture, and W. F. Broadstock of Winterburn addressed the meeting, and explained fully the Co-operative Marketing Plan followed so successfully by growers in the United States, and the methods which the Edmonton Growers' Association intend to follow in marketing this year's crop.

A number of the prominent growers of this district have joined the Edmonton Growers' Association.

The obvious advantages of co-operative marketing are too well known to need further explanation here. Sufficient to say that the Edmonton Association have secured the services of the Growers' Sales Agency to market their crop.

This Agency have been handling the B. C. Fruit Growers' crop for a number of years, and their astuteness and reliability have made fruit growing in B.C. a profitable business. Why should we not raise potato growing in the Edmonton and Stony Plain districts to the same high standard?

For further information, growers of this district are asked to communicate with Mr. A. Klapper or Mr. M. B. McColl, Agricultural Representative, Stony Plain.

Costly Cayuses

Two trials have recently been made to dispose of the surplus light horses in this province. The 1st shipment consisted of 33 head, and were bought for at an average of $30 a head. The return of costs for this shipment shows about $2137 spent on land, air, ocean, freight, and feed, en route to Trinidad, which was a 14-day voyage from Halifax. When it costs a $100 to sell a 900-lb. $30 horse, it's going some!

The Homesteaders

He carried her to the tent and applied water to her forehead. As he was engaged in restoring her his hand fell on his gun. The barrel was hot. He raised her face to his, and kissed her again and again.

In the morning they found a few drops of blood on the grass at the top of the bank. Harris and his wife allowed themselves no time for nerve-strain over the experience of their first night in their homestead. It was fortunate for them there was so much to do, and that they were thrown entirely upon their own resources. Their little store of money was running low, and they decided their house must be of the cheapest possible construction. Harris had already discussed his buildings with McGraw, who advised him to make use of sods, and gave general directions how to do so; and he now set about putting McGraw's suggestions into effect. Some fifteen miles north of the homestead was a valley in which grew trees of sufficient size for building purposes—poplars, cottonwoods, elms and oaks. Farther down the valley, at the head of a lake, was a saw-mill, where boards and shingles might be bought if one had money.

So this morning, after caring for their cows, they hitched the horses to the wagon, took an axe, a saw, their gun, and a lunch, and set out for the valley, returning late at night with sufficient logs and poles for the framework of their house and stable. The next day construction was commenced. Four stout posts were set on end, enclosing a rectangle twelve by sixteen feet. The tops of the posts were connected by logs laid upon them, dovetailed at the corners in the fashion of woodsmen, and held in position by wooden pins driven in under holes. Leaning along the centre, to form a ridge-pole, another stout log was laid and the whole framework supported by additional posts, among which were two on the east side to enclose the door. Small poles were then thrust in, slightly inwards, and resting against the plate-logs. Similar poles were laid from the plate-log to the ridge-pole to support the roof.

Harris found a southern slope where the frost was not enough to admit of him ploughing some sods. He knew he would not get as good a sods as later in the season might be found in some low-lying spot, but his first consideration was to get some kind of permanent shelter. So he ploughed the sods, three inches thick and fourteen inches wide, and cut them into two-foot lengths with his axe, to the sad injury of its cutting edge. These sods were then built into a wall like bricks, resting against the framework of poles, from which, however, they were separated by a padding of grass, which Harris cut in a ditch with his scythe, and small willows from the ravine. This mattress of grass and willows prevented any earth shaking through into the house itself. A framework made of a keven log was inserted in the south wall to leave space for a window, which should be bought when the family finances could afford such luxuries. For the time being it would be left open in fine weather and covered with canvas when the elements were grim and stormy. The rag-carpet, when no longer needed as a tent, would be draped in the doorway, pending the purchase of boards to make a wooden door.

For a roof, grass was laid on the poles and covered tightly with sods. Then Harris found a sticky, yellow clay in the side of the ravine, and two or three inches of this he spread carefully over the sods, like icing on a great cake. The grassy clay soon hardened in the sun, and became so impervious to water that the heaviest summer made no impression upon it.

When, save for the missing door and window, the house was finished, they stood in the centre and admired. It was absolutely the product of their own labor, applied to such scanty resources as the prairie provided. But it was warm and snug, and, as they later on learned, the wall and roof of sod were almost perfect non-conductors of either heat or cold. The floor was of earth, but Mary Harris knew the difference between earth and dirt, although the words are frequently confounded, and her house was soon the first model of cleanliness and order.

By this time the snow was all gone, except in north-facing nooks along the ravine, and the frost was out of the sod in all places deep enough to admit of ploughing. As the stock were taken no harm from the open air, thanks to the shelter of the ravine, Harris decided to delay the construction of his stable until after seeding, and to proceed at once with the ploughing of his land. He had also to make a trip to Arthur's for seed grain, and to borrow a couple of sections of drag harrows. With it all, by the middle of May he had sown fifteen acres of wheat, and notwithstanding a heavy snowfall about the 23rd, by the 1st of June he had added ten acres of oats. With his help Mary had planted a small garden of potatoes and vegetables, and a few flowers were springing up at the door of the house.

It was a life of hard, persistent work—of loneliness, privation and hardship. But it was also a life of courage, of health, of resourcefulness, of a wild, exhilarating freedom found only in God's open spaces. They had learned to know the animals of the field—the cheery gophers, the sleek, over-industrious badger; the elk, unchallenged monarch of its immediate domain; the sneaky coyote, whose terror is all in his howl; the red fox, softly searching amid the grass for the nests of ducks or prairie chicken; and the rabbit, curious but always fully elusive. Then there were the deer, infinite in number. They were hunted only by the amount of powder and shot which Harris carried to spend on the pond at their door. At night, when the horses had been unharnessed and dusk was setting in, he would slip his gun under his arm and walk down among the willows. It was necessary only to wait. Two graceful forms, feeding under grassy bank, hearing a slight rustle above, would shove with quick, silent stroke into the supposed safety of their native element. Harris would peer through the dusk for the brighter markings of the male, for only the gamb-murderer shoots the female in the nesting season. Then, as they separated a little, his gun would speak; a sudden splashing of water; a sharp whistle of rapid wings cutting air; a rump, then lying straight, circle in the pond, then lying straight, flat upon the surface. Harris as yet had no dog, and often it meant a sharp and sharp pluck at the full-cold-water to bring in the trophy; but the strong, athletic young man counted that any part of his sport. At other times the nights were clamorous with the honking of wild geese, and in the morning Harris, slipping quietly over the bank of the coulee, would see the prairie white as from pale and bright with the backs of countless thousands of "waves." Sometimes the geese, secure in the grassy solitude, would be startled by the vigor of their military guard, and on such occasions he could get within range. But if there is one quality the geese lack it is that which is most attributed to him—foolishness. On his marches through the unmaped desert of the air he moves with the precision of an army in the field, scouting out all the land, taking aerial observations before making camp, and immediately throwing out sentries around his feeding ground. But long-continued immunity from attack breeds carelessness, even in a goose, and the price of such neglect frequently adorned the table in Harris's cabin.

The prairie flowers, too, were a never-ending delight to the heart of the young woman. She knew some of them by name, but many were peculiar to the prairie. The first few warm days of spring had clothed all the wilderness with a magic carpet of pale-purplish blossoms, and the advancing season brought new blooms to view with every passing week. On Sundays, when there was total relaxation from their regular labors, the two, arm in arm, would stroll along the bank of the ravine, or walk, as it were, in deep in strawberry blossoms, far over the undulating plain to the west. Returning, they would find their way to the edge of the stream, where, in the shallow crossing, the suckers would dart in all directions in panic at their appearance. Here they would sit and listen to the gentle murmur of the water, while fleecy clouds mirrored themselves in its glassy depths, and plovers ran whistling up and down the bank, and a new-bark sent its limp challenge from a neighboring bush. And at night, when the moon rose in wonderful whiteness and purity, wrapping field and ravine in a riot of silver, the strange, irrevocable, unanswerable legend of the great plains stole down upon them, and they knew that here indeed was life in its fullness—a participation in the Infinite, humble, but all-embracing, everlasting.

CHAPTER V.

The Shores of the Infinite.

The summer was a season of great activity and development. Harris did not sow any crop after the 1st of June, but applied himself then to the construction of his stable, which was built after the same fashion as the False Claims.

WE hope there is no Mother who thinks she can treat her sick baby without calling in a Physician, or with remedies that she uses for herself.

Most Mothers know that Baby requires remedies especially prepared for babies, yet there are some who think that what is good enough for them is good enough for Baby, and it is to these Mothers we appeal to give nothing to their babies that is not specially prepared for babies or recommended by their Physician.

False claims may kill, but false claims can never restore your child.

For over thirty years Fletcher's Castoria has been aiding in the reduction of the deaths among infants as Mothers have become more and more acquainted with it. Always keep it in the house.

CASTORIA

Are You Prepared?

A doctor in the house all the time would be a good idea. Yet you can't afford to keep a doctor in the family to keep baby well or prevent sickness. But you can do almost the same thing by having at hand a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria, because it is a wonderful remedy for indigestion, colic, feverishness, fretfulness and all the other disorders that result from common ailments that babies have.

Fletcher's Castoria is perfectly safe to use. It is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Peppermint, Drops and Soothing Syrups. Children cry for Fletcher's Castoria, and mothers recommend it because they have found it a comfort to children and a mother's friend.

If you love your baby, you know how sweet it is to be able to help baby when trouble comes. You cannot always call upon a doctor. But doctors have nothing but good to say of Fletcher's Castoria, because they know that it can only do good—that it can't do any harm—and they wouldn't want you to use for baby a remedy that you would use for yourself.

The shelter of its cool walls and roof was gracefully sought by the cows in the heat of the day, and its comparative freedom from mosquitoes was a haven to the horses in the evenings. Then there was more land to plough, and Harris's soul never dulled to the delight of driving the team share through the virgin sod. There was something almost sacred in the bringing of his will to bear upon soil which had come down to him through all the ages fresh from the hand of the Creator. The blackbirds that followed at his heel in long, respectful rows, solemnly seeking the trophies of their chase, might have seen incarnations from the unrecorded ages that had known these broad fields for chase and slaughter, but new-born for growth and production. The era of the near vision, demanding its immediate reward, had passed away, and in its place was the day of faith, for without faith there can be neither seed-time nor harvest.

Allies Will Send Relief To The Starving Russians

Lloyd George Has No Admission For Soviet Government, But Will Act on Humanitarian Grounds.

Paris.—The United States ambassador took part twice in the sessions of the Supreme Council, once in replying to Premier Lloyd George that he agreed that the traditional policy of the United States gave traders the right to sell arms to either belligerent in the Near East, and again, in replying to enquiries by the prime ministers respecting Secretary Hoover's Russian relief plans.

M. Briand, the French premier, began the discussion of the Russian famine by saying that the Russian people who had fought with the Allies in the beginning of the war might justly look to them now for help.

"I propose that all the Allies join with the United States and the other nations who are interesting themselves in the administration of relief through Red Cross societies and other private sources," said M. Briand.

"I heartily agree to this," exclaimed Lloyd George, "but I wish to point out," he added, "that such efforts could not reach many of the sufferers. The Red Cross cannot perform the miracle of the five loaves and two fishes. Relief must be organized immediately on a great scale not only for the sake of Russia, but for the sake of the world, because typhus, cholera and other, plagues incident to famine would cause more losses than the last war."

"I have no admiration for the Soviet Government," Lloyd George continued, "but relief is impossible without its co-operation, inasmuch as it controls transport and all of the official machinery. No one could move about Russia without its permission. I think for this purpose, and this purpose only, the Allies should make some arrangement with the Soviet Government."

Lloyd George said he had been informed that all of the Russian provinces had surplus grain, but the peasants would not release it except in exchange for goods which they required. He suggested that the Supreme Council consider at once whether steps could not be taken to obtain grain in this manner for the famine area. The question was not a political, but a humanitarian one.

"When your neighbor's house is burning," he concluded, "you don't ask questions, but try to save it."

Ample Harvest Help

Winnipeg.—With approximately 25,000 harvest hands required for Manitoba and Saskatchewan already in the west, it was decided at a meeting of employment officials here to notify the railway officials that further excursion trains from eastern points should be held up, pending a survey of conditions. Whether the west has sufficient farm labor or not will be decided in the next day or so. Surprise was expressed by the local employment officials at the expedient manner in which the railways had dispatched so many harvesters from the east.

Loyalty of People of Dominion

King George Is Grateful For Work of Premiers at Conference.

London.—His Majesty King George in his reply to the address from the Imperial conference, emphasizes the fact that he had stirring and ineffable proofs from the peoples of the dominion of their loyalty and devotion in the enthusiastic and touching receptions invariably given on the several occasions of his visit to different parts of the world where the British flag flies, proofs which had been renewed in the remarkable demonstrations of welcome and goodwill to the Prince of Wales during his visit of the past three years. Furthermore, where could one find such ample testimony to their common allegiance to empire and sovereignty as in their noble self-sacrifice during the four and a half years of the World War?

His Majesty added: "I followed with keen interest the deliberations of the conference. These meetings and the exchange of views between ministers of the great communities which they represent, upon the many problems affecting the common interest of the British peoples, are essential to the unity and well-being of the empire and the general peace of the world. Every facility must be given for such periodical meetings, and to ensure this, we look confidently to men of science and research to discover an improved means of inter-communication between all parts of the British commonwealth."

"I know the work of the conference has been strenuous, entailing severe demands upon all concerned, but their time was well spent in advancing further along the road of progress and development. I heartily thank them, on my own behalf, and that of the Queen, for the address. We wish Godspeed to those who are leaving England and a safe and happy return to their respective homes and families. More than ever do we follow with feelings of affection, the welfare of our people at home and across the sea."

To Unify the Laws Of the Provinces

Ottawa.—An attempt to unify the laws of the various provinces, with the exception of the province of Quebec, which has been under consideration by a committee for some time, will be reported upon at the annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association which opens here on September 6, and continues until September 8. Each province, with the exception of Quebec, is represented by a commissioner. The exception on the part of Quebec is due to the radical differences in its insistence on the maintenance of its civil laws granted under the B.N.A. Act.

Soldier Settlers

Have Good Crops

Success of Community Settlements Exemplified in Indian Reserves.

Winnipeg.—Soldier settlers in the northern parts of the three prairie provinces will harvest from 20 to 35 bushels of wheat to the acre, according to Captain L. B. Boyd, a federal inspector of the Soldier Settlement Board, who has been here attending a conference of district supervisors.

Returned soldiers who have settled in communities throughout the west, have done remarkably well from every point of view, Captain Boyd declared. The outstanding success of community settlements, he stated, is exemplified in the Indian reserves, shown open through the Board for Soldier Settlements. Notable among these are the Riding Mountain, Piquette, Porcupine and Pouce Coue reserves. In every one of these places community settlements have been established, with an average of 80 acres per settler under cultivation.

The population of these settlements range from 200 to 600 people.

The Life of Ne-Gua-nan-I-sew

By O. GE MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

About this time, now in the platter, a young colored doctor from Chatham, Ontario, had settled in Kintino, some thirty miles west of my homestead, and was practicing his profession there with much success. This was glad news for me and I drove up and called on him at the first opportunity, and we soon became fast friends. He was much interested in the Indians and when I told him of the death of Ne-gua-nan-I-sew's children and described the symptoms, he made me promise that if another child was born to this couple it was to be brought up to him for examination. On my next visit to Neshtow and his poor sad wife I listened with the greatest eagerness to my tale of the new doctor, and it was rather amusing when I described his color.

Ah, then, said, if a white doctor's medicine is strong, why a black doctor's must be stronger. However, they promised faithfully if a few baby came they would surely follow my advice. A year or so elapsed and then they came with a fine little baby girl in the Month Bag and resembling her mother very much. Both were anxious to see the new medicine man, so we all went up to Kintino, I going as interpreter. After a careful examination the doctor gave certain instructions and these they promised faithfully to carry out. Then in three months time, and in fact every three months for at last a year, they were to bring the babe for another medical examination. At about the age of two the doctor performed a slight operation for tubercular gland. The child thrived, the parents were immensely grateful, and this girl baby gradually developed into a fine handsome young woman who went to Emmanuel College. She was the pride and delight of her parents and through her efforts they both became converted to Christianity. In the meantime, two other children were born to Neshtow and being duly treated by Dr. Shadd, grew up fine youngsters. A happier, more contented Indian family you could not find, but alas, the sequel of this true tale proves that in the midst of life we are in death.

The season was early fall, following an extremely dry summer, and Neshtow and all his family were camping in the hills south of Ethelton. The country was broken and brule, with a tremendous growth of grass and much dead old bottom. For days the atmosphere had been smoky. Suddenly a heavy gale of wind arose and Neshtow finally decided to make for the open country, but in every direction they tried to proceed, fire or dense smoke headed them back. Finally, in despair, he set all hands to make as big a clearing as possible, also to dig a hole (axes the only tool) to shelter them if the fire swept over the camp. Then he hobbled and threw his two ponies and covered their heads up with a blanket. How they all worked in spite of the awful heat and suffocating smoke, then with a roar the actual fire was on them and on by one he saw, his dear one's perished, reckless of his own life he clasped them in his arms to extinguish the burning garments, but his loved wife, his brilliant daughter and the two young children all perished.

When a rescue party arrived he was still conscious, though very badly burned. They insisted on taking him down to the doctor, but his wish was to die and join his loved ones, the quicker the better.

I was not present when they brought the poor pained child of nature into Dr. Shadd and laid him on a couch. After a short examination he pronounced the case hopeless, and when they told poor Neshtow this, he thanked God and calling his friends who had rescued him he dictated his last wishes. He asked that sufficient of his goods be sold to meet his debts, and sent a special message of goodwill to me. Then, folding his poor burnt arms across his chest, and with a cherry "Goodbye, doctor," this perished Ne-gua-nan-I-sew, a gallant Indian gentleman.

Fortunately some years before the date of the wiping out of this family, old South-Wind and his wife had died so they were spared much grief.

Indian Prevention of Bush Fires.

Old South-Wind was my first Indian friend in the Stony Creek country (now Melfort district), and not only selected my first location, but gave me much kind and sound advice as to me, it was a new thing. His forefathers, for generations back, had made this district their hunting grounds and he pointed out to me with pride the fact that all the first growth timber was still standing untouched by fire. When asking him what I should do in regard to this preservation of the green woods (which of course meant saving the fur), he replied as follows:

Just as soon as the snow goes off in the spring and the grass on the ridges is dry, put out your fires. The snow is still in the woods and no harm will result. Then later on as the hay sways dry up and you have the ridges surrounding them burnt off, why do the same to the hay.

I followed the old Indian's advice from 1883 to 1893 without losing a stick of green timber, but in the year 1893 a number of settlers came in when I was burning the ridges in the spring of 1894, one of these men, a man from North Dakota, warned me that he had been appointed a fire guardian and that I would be pulled if I did not stop putting out spring fires. I tried to show the new man the folly of this but without success, so for two or three years the old grass collected until it formed a mat on the ground over a foot thick, then one of their number let a fire out in a dry fall. Many of these new settlers lost their buildings, several barely escaped with their lives, and two young Indians perished in the hills. Millions of feet of good green timber were burnt, and some thousands of acres of black soil were burnt off clean down to the clay sub-soil and, naturally, the fur-bearing animals were wiped out.

This law from Regina may have suited southern ranchmen but it was a positive evil in this country where more grass grows on one acre than on ten or twenty in the south. Our legislators should have had old South-Wind at their councils.

We few settlers became exhausted in trying to check this awful fire so appealed to the Mounted Police for assistance. Help was promptly and effectively given us, as usual, with that noble body of men.

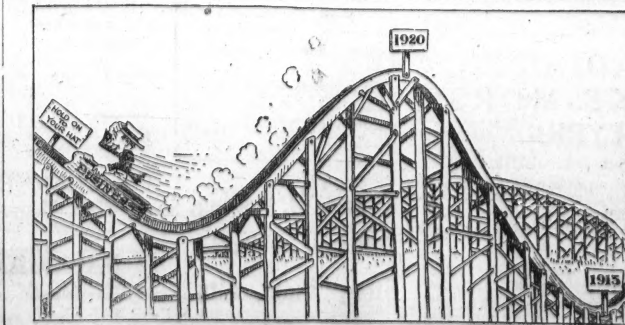

Fire Raging in Russian Oil Wells

Flames Cannot Be Extinguished and Loss Will Be Disastrous.

London.—Fires are raging in 18 oil wells in the suburbs of Batum, the great oil centre in Asiatic Russia, according to advice from Reval, Estonia, by the Central News Agency here.

There appears to be no means of extinguishing the conflagration, the message added, and the loss of oil will be disastrous. The disaster will be more keenly felt on account of the famine and cholera in that district and the consequent scarcity of labor, resulting in scanty supplies of coal and firewood for the winter, the message said.

Secondhand experience is almost as good as new, and it costs less.

Sunnybrook's Pure reds

Flossy Pontiac, owned by Mr. Mr. Wm. Gilbert of Sunnybrook Farm, has just completed a ten-months' record with over 15,000 lbs., and is due to calve again in a few days.

MERCEDES DUCHESSE BEAUTY—who, thru an accident, her test has been stopped at 7 months, with around 14,000 lbs. She was hitting a clip for 20,000 lbs.

MEADOW ROSA PONTIAC is holding on, is up to 18,000 lbs. and three months to milk.

These records are extraordinary for cows that are bred regularly. Most of the cows are having two calves in ten months.

A half sister to Mercedes DUCHESSE BEAUTY has traveled the Circuit with only one defeat, when judged by an Ayrshire judge, at first fair. She has been Junior or Grand Champion at most of the fairs.

NELL ISCO DE KOL—She is a granddaughter of May Echo, the World's Champion Cow. She had two calves in ten months, and gave over 24,154 lbs. milk and 659 butter.

Nell Isco De Kol is mother of Springdale Canal, the Herd Bull at Sunnybrook Farm.

This Bull is the highest corned bull in Western Canada. His four nearest dams average over 24,000 lbs. milk and over 800 lbs. butter in year.

His grand dam was Champion of Canada, and her dam was second highest record cow in Canada, with 20,000 lbs. milk and 1,200 butter.

Some of the good awards earned so far on this year's Circuits by Mr. Gilbert with his exhibition cattle are:

First and Grand Champion with Julia Alcatraz.

First and Junior Champion with Mercedes DUCHESSE ALCATRAZ.

First, Second and Third with Three Bull Calves.

At the Lamont Fair, on Friday last, Mr. Geo. Bevington and Mr. Wm. Gilbert had the Holstein entries all to themselves. Mr. Bevington secured 6 firsts, 2 seconds and 4 thirds. Mr. Gilbert secured 2 firsts, 5 seconds and 1 third. In the Berkshires, Mr. Gilbert secured 5 firsts, prizes out of a possible 7.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

This is a Short Letter, But It Proves the Reliability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bothwell, Ont.—"I was weak and run down, had no appetite and was nervous. The nurse who took care of me told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I am getting stronger. I recommend your medicine to my friends, and you may use my name for the same purpose."—Mrs. W. J. Brady, R. R. 2, Bothwell, Ont.

The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills is because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old-fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, beneficial influence, and as it contains no narcotics or harmful drugs it is a safe medicine for women.

If you want special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read, and answered by women only.

Alberta Ships Horses

Trinidad Business Firm Ordered Them For Driving Purposes. A trial shipment of Alberta horses is now on the way to Trinidad, where they are being sent on an order from a business firm there which wants them for driving purposes. Twenty-three animals, of small build, standing from fourteen to fifteen hands in height and weighing from 700 to 1,000 lbs., bought in the vicinity of Calgary, are being shipped as a first consignment, and a second lot to make up a total of fifty will follow later.

The shipment is in charge of J. D. Smith, of the department of agriculture. He will ship from Halifax by one of the West India steamer lines, and after delivering the animals to their buyers in Trinidad will spend some time looking into the future horse market there and at other points in the Indies. If Mr. Smith's investigations are satisfactory, it is likely that other shipments from Alberta will be made in the near future.

1920 Fur Catch Worth Two Millions

Muskat Pelts Account For Half of the Revenue.

During the hunting season of 1920, furs valued at more than two million dollars were sold by Saskatchewan trappers.

Muskat pelts brought the heaviest revenue, Chief Game Guardian Fred Bradshaw states. Sale of these amounted to $1,009,476. They sold at $2 a pelt. Coyote skins were the next heaviest item on the sale list. More than 18,000 of these were sold, bringing a revenue of $294,176.

One of the surprising features of the statement is that which deals with muskrat pelts. It shows that 9,974 of these were sold for $5 each, bringing returns to trappers amounting to $49,870.

Other animals which produced good returns for hunters were: Minks, martens, beavers, black and silver foxes, weasels, badgers and Wolverines.

Mr. Bradshaw says: "The most noticeable spread is that of muskrats, there being 380,328 pelts less than were purchased the year before. Beaver are down 500 skins, skunks show an increase of 4,000, and weasels display a remarkable increase of 25,000. All varieties of foxes show a slight decrease, while the remaining kinds of fur bearers show only slight variations from the catch of 1919."

Baby's Own Tablets are an ideal medicine in warding off this trouble. They regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus prevent all the dreaded summer complaints. Concerning them Mrs. Fred Rose, of South York, Ont., says: "I feel Baby's Own Tablets saved the life of our baby when she had cholera infantum and I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

For Motoring Or Yachting

By Marie Belmont.

There are so many occasions during the summer when a handsome wrap is needed that it is always well to have a coat that may be adapted for various uses. The wrap is made of bolivia cloth, with trimmings of silk serge. The sleeves are cut in one with the rest of the coat and they are distinguished by their wide cuffs. The coat is slightly bloused in the front, but is drawn snugly to the figure below the belt. The draped collar, the cuffs and the bulging pockets are made of blue silk serge that contrasts well with the beige bolivia cloth. Beige stitching enhances their beauty.

The Need of Fresh Air.

Every time we breathe we draw thirty cubic inches of air into our lungs; supposing that we take fifteen breaths a minute for the twenty-four hours of the day, we use no less than 648,000 cubic inches of air, which would weigh over thirty pounds. One day's supply of air for one human being would be sufficient to fill 1,125 two-gallon cans; a year's supply would weigh more than five tons. From these figures it may be seen how necessary it is to keep windows open so that there may be a continuous supply of fresh air.

Fuel Control Unlikely

Cabinet Considers Situation Calls For No Action.

Fuel control by the Dominion Government during the coming winter is unlikely. According to Sir George Foster, the question of fuel control has been under consideration, but apparently the situation calls for no action by the federal authorities. Sir George pointed out that the Provincial Governments were in a position to appoint fuel controllers if they so desired. Conditions during the war were very different from those prevailing at present, he said, and now there was a supply of fuel for those who wished to purchase it.

CHANGE OF WATER WAS THE CAUSE OF DIARRHOEA

in such cases relieves the pain, checks the diarrhoea, and thus does away with the suffering, the weakness and often-times collapse associated with an attack of this kind. It does this by checking the too frequent and irritating stools, settling the stomach and bracing up the weakened system, thus rendering it without a peer for the treatment of all bowel complaints of both old and young.

Mrs. Ernest S. Beaton, Grayburn, Sask., writes:—"Coming out here from the East, my two little girls took very sick, the change of water, etc., giving them diarrhoea. They were so pale and used to vomit everything they would take, so I finally got a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and I must say it certainly helped them. I have also used it when my girls were teething and it is all you claim to be, nothing but 76 years reputation stands behind this remedy. Price, 50c. a bottle. Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont."
